

Web

Web site design and hosting.

Our products include a range of pre-packaged Content Management System web sites. However our pre-packaged sites may not fit your needs and you may want something different. In which case we can:

- Tailor and host a CMS site specifically for you.
- Design, create, host and maintain a site just for you - anything from one page to hundreds.
- Install and host a basic CMS site, with superadministrator access for you to tailor yourself.

So we supply everything from a site where you can make any changes you like at anytime through to a site entirely managed and maintained by us to your requirements - and everything between. The choice is yours.

Secure email.

For business or even personal use try our managed email solutions. If you have a web site and domain name hosted and managed by Ondev, you can take advantage of our secure managed email service.

All incoming email is scanned for viruses and spam at our secure mail server before it ever arrives at your computer. We still recommend you have your own anti-virus and spam software but we add another layer of security.

Messages definitely identified as spam or containing viruses are simply eliminated - you will never see them. Messages suspected of being spam are flagged by adding the word "SPAM", with a star rating, to the subject line of the message.

What is a Content Management System (CMS)?

A CMS website is one that YOU can update online from any computer with an Internet connection.

Once installed, it is simple for even non-technical users to add or edit content, upload and add images, and to manage the critical data that makes your company or organisation go. Anybody with basic word processing skills can easily learn to manage one of our CMS sites.

Of all the Open Source CMS's we believe that Joomla! is probably the most powerful and versatile available. Out of the box, Joomla! does a great job of managing the content needed to make your site sing. However it's true power lies in the community of developers around the world who have created over 2000 add-ons and extensions.

Several of our products are based on Joomla! with extensions to provide a specific style of web site.

We have also integrated a number of other CMS packages into our products. We can supply some of these packages as separate web sites in their own right.

Check out our product range now!

Contact us today for a tailored package or to discuss your requirements.